NKU-Grant Center gets new leader

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

The Northern Kentucky University-Grant County Center has a new leader.

Correy Eimer has been hired as the new director of the Williamstown facility.

He replaces Betsy John-Jennings, who retired May 30 after 35 years at NKU, the last 10 in Grant County.

The 38-year-old Eimer is from Bellaire, Ohio, and lives in Walton with his wife Erin, their 8-year-old son Luke and 18-month-old daughter Landry.

Eimer said he is grateful for the opportunity to partner with the NKU staff, faculty and community stakeholders to serve Grant County, as well as the surrounding rural counties.

"My vision is for NKU's Grant County Center to be at the top of the list when high school students begin planning for their future," he said. "I realize that college is not for everyone and that there are alternative options, such as vocational training or the U.S. Armed Forces, that will lead to successful and fulfilling careers. However, if someone is interested in pursuing a college education to either begin or advance their career, NKU's Grant County Center is a wonderful place to start."

Eimer earned his bachelor's degree in 1998 and masters' degrees in social work and public administration in 2000 from West Virginia University.

Grant funds free cat spay/neuter clinic

By Jamie Baker-Nantz
Editor

The Grant County Animal Shelter will be offering a free spay/neuter clinic for cats as long as there is money available for the program.

The United Coalition For Animals (UCAN) and the animal shelter have partnered to offer the public an opportunity to have their cats spayed/neutered for a $20 refundable deposit. The animals will also receive a rabies vaccination, FVRCP immunization, microchip and treatment for fleas, ear mites, ticks or tapeworms if needed.

"We're excited to offer this program to the public," said Marsha Chaney, director of the animal shelter.

The county has partnered with UCAN to offer a low-cost spay/neuter clinic for about four years, but this marks the first time a $20 deposit will be refunded once the animal is picked up.

Chaney said the timing of the program is good because it is kitten season. Last month, the shelter took in 80 cats and 60 dogs.

"I think 80 is high for a county our size," Chaney said.

Chaney said the spay/neuter clinic has been successful

“There is no excuse for anyone not to have their cats altered when we are offering such a deal.”

- MARSHA CHANEY
Grant Co. Shelter Director

because the shelter is seeing the number of unwanted cats decline from previous years, but there's still more to be done to correct the problem.

"Cats can have three litters in a year. A cat can become pregnant within a few days of having a litter and when you think about an average litter being four to six kittens, the numbers can quickly get out of hand," Chaney said.

Participants will come to the shelter to fill out paperwork, pay $20 in cash (which will be refunded when the animal is picked up) and then bring the animal back on the designated date.

"If you do not show up for your appointment, you lose your money," Chaney said. "We cannot allow people to sign up their cats and then not show up and take that spot when we could have sent another cat."

Haubner attends national Four Star Leadership program

Austin Haubner, 16, of Dry Ridge, is among 50 students nationwide who have been selected to participate in the Four Star Leadership program, offering leadership training, policy debate, speech competition and scholarships and the opportunity to engage with national and global leaders on July 12 through July 19 in Oklahoma City.

Haubner, a junior this fall at Grant County High School, was chosen for his demonstrated leadership abilities and outstanding character. He is an executive officer of his Junior ROTC unit and volunteers with H.O.P.E. (Helping Out People Everywhere.)

Former Commander-in-Chief of American and coalition forces in Iraq and Afghanistan, General Franks will host the camp and guest speakers at the conference will include Oklahoma Lt. Governor Todd Lamb, Attorney General Scott Pruitt and multiple Olympic Gold medalist Michele Smith. Round trip travel for Haubner and all participants in the program has been generously provided by PepsiCo, Inc.

Since 2008, "Four Star" has welcomed more than 250 high school students from all over the U.S., and 30 international students. Kings, governors, senators, Olympic Gold medalists and top national policy experts have mentored students in developing and demonstrating the core leadership principles of the program: character, common vision, communication, and caring.

Each session will follow curriculum designed to develop leadership skills and challenge students through team-building exercises, collaboration, spontaneous problem solving and competition

Austin Haubner, the son of Doug and Kim Haubner, was selected to attend the Four Star Leadership Program in Oklahoma City in July.

Excursions during the week will provide participants opportunities to further develop and employ those skills through cultural experiences and service projects.

This year's Four Star Leadership Congressional Debate competition offers students expert policy briefings so they may address those issues in persuasive speech and editorial contests, while collaborating in a model Student Congress. Topics to be debated are the Affordable Care Act, Global Warming versus economic growth and the minimum wage.

Four Star Leadership with General

Tommy Franks is an all-inclusive program (tuition, room, board, travel and fees) that is free to the selected students. Four Star Leadership provides an avenue for recognition, scholarships and letters of recommendation.

Competition finalists will be awarded scholarships to be applied at the college of their choice. Four participants who successfully complete the program will have an opportunity to receive a full-tuition scholarship to the University of Texas in Arlington and every student will have a once in a lifetime opportunity to develop their leadership potential.

VIEWPOINT

OUR OPINION

Workers make the community a good one

We’ve all heard the stories of what makes our country, our state, our county and our community great and they all have merit.

One thought we think you’ll agree with us on is that one of the things that makes our community a good place to live, work and raise a family is the many hard-working, dedicated people that call this corner of the world home.

They are the friendly faces that greet you when you get your morning coffee at the gas station or the bus driver that takes your children to school each day. They could be the waitress at one of the local restaurants or owner of one of the many specialty shops in Grant County. They might be a construction or factory worker or even a stay-at-home mom. They could be a Sunday School teacher, Scout leader or community volunteer.

The point is that, as we approach the Labor Day holiday, which for many is the signal of the end of the lazy days of summer, it is a good time to reflect on those people that do their jobs day in and day out with little fan fare and contribute to the betterment of our community.

We say, ‘Hat’s off to all the hard-working men and women who labor in Grant County!’”

We hope that you got a day off and you can kick back and enjoy it.

GUEST OPINIONS

Once again Congress can’t cooperate, strands thousands at border by inaction

On Friday night, July 31, I was amazed. I was amazed at the fact the United States House of Representatives had, as one of their last--if not final--acts of the 2014 session, passed a bill. A bill that made the refugee children from El Salvador, Venezuela and Honduras be treated like illegal, er, excuse me undocumented immigrants from our border neighbors Mexico and Canada. In other words; they will be turned away and sent packing. Back to the country they came from: g’bye; so long; farewell; leave our borders; you cost too much; we can’t afford you; you have a country; go home.

OK. Whether I agree with this or not, it is done. Ended. Fin. Right?

Well, not so much. In the 11th hour, nay 13th hour, the House did pass the bill. However, that bill means nothing. I feel like John Snow in HBO’s Game of Thrones when his wildling girlfriend, lying dying, tells him “you know nothing, John Snow.” As I fall into a mire of ignorance and confusion, I hear the words echoing through my head, “...you know nothing American citizen...” No bill becomes a law until it is passed by both the House and the Senate and also signed by the President.

WT...? What the heck are they doing? Ah yes, posturing. Once again, a “P” word comes to the fore. There are other p words out there that come into play, as well. Words such as “pandering,” “pomposity,” as well as good old “perception.” But in this instance, other than pomposity, posturing is apropos. What is it? The nut and bolts definition is to “behave in a way that is intended to impress or mislead others.” Yeah, that’s it.

On Sept. 8, Congress will reconvene in their offices after a month of, well whatever they do while they are on recess. This year, it’s probably campaigning for each other. In the meantime, their posturing has left thousands of immigrants and refugees at our borders; more flooding in and nothing to be done with them. Basically, the House passed a bill that cannot be enacted and the Senate just gave it up and left. But, at least they did something and that, friends and neighbors, is what you are going to hear for the next month on TV, radio, in newspapers and on the Web. They did “something.” Well, no they did not.

The Senate was already gone after gridlock over the issue resulted in their bill being dropped. The House knew this, but passed their own version, anyways. In this way, they can legitimately say, “see, we did something, those guys just went home.”

So, just what is going on here? The options of what our austere governing bodies have not accomplished are endless... However, the screaming meanie issue here concerns “immigration at the border.” You know, those constant nagging reports about all those kids coming to our border, sucking our money and resources dry with their illegal needs while our own people are suffering.

In reality? This has to do with kids--mainly from El Salvador, Venezuela and Honduras--who come to our border and give themselves up. They are not sneaking in under cover of night or through tunnels or by wading a river; they are walking up to USA border patrol agents and giving themselves up. They are fleeing from countries with rampant poverty and violence: refugees from drug wars and cartels that kidnap, rape, torture and enslave children like unimportant chattel.

Now, let’s go back to 2008 several charities. I hope in death he can provide one more valuable service to the world. I hope his death will help move us significantly forward in being open about depression.

I have struggled with depression for more than 30 years, but only in the past couple of years have I opened up to people beyond my immediate family. It’s time.

It’s time for us to see depression for what it is – an illness. It is an illness that is as real as asthma or arthritis or any other.

Depression: The silent killer

And most importantly, it is an illness that can be treated.

I have had others come to me and say they think they may be suffering from depression, but they are not sure, which in turn makes them reluctant to seek help. I always tell them the same thing – seek help!

Depression, like other illnesses, takes many forms. And by seeking help, you have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Furthermore, counseling is not just for people with depression or anxiety or other mental illnesses. Counseling is for anyone who seeks to make themselves better and stronger. Think of it like a fitness trainer for the mind and soul.

I have depression. It is something I would not wish on anyone, but it can be a valuable teacher.

One thing I have learned from depression is that the ability we have to reach out to others during our shared bumpy ride on planet Earth is a precious gift.

Being open about my depression is not easy, but if it makes a difference to just one other person, I am going to shout about it.

DOWN AND DIRTY

The late summer lawn

Summer splendor in the grass is being replaced by a fungus among us for some gardeners. I have seen some weird stuff out in the pastures this last week, likely due to the heat and rain. Mostly people like to blame dead patches in the lawn on grubs but often fungal diseases are the culprit and the weather and our own maintenance habits contribute to the problem.

Despite the advice that fall is better than spring when it comes to fertilization many people still do it which causes problems this time of the year. For example, too much nitrogen applied in the spring of the year is linked to a higher incidence of fungal diseases like red thread, dollar spot, frog-eye and brown patch. Add weather extremes, automatic sprinklers, mowing habits and susceptible turf varieties and we see odd things happening to our late summer lawns.

Types of lawn diseases

Dollar spot is caused by a fungus that is favored by temperatures between 60 and 80 degrees and prolonged moisture. It is most prevalent on bentgrass (which is primarily used on golf courses around here), bluegrass and fine fescue lawns. Yellow spots first appear on the blades of grass and advances to a reddish-brown color; the tips remain green. As the grass dies it typically forms dead patches that are about the size of a silver dollar, thus the name dollar spot. Use tall type fescue and don't over fertilize or over irrigate your lawn and you should avoid this lawn disease.

Brown patch is likely more mainstream when it comes to lawn diseases because it will impact tall fescue (the best and predominate grass for our area). The disease is caused by a common soil fungus that is favored by too much nitrogen, humidity and temperatures between 60 and 85 degrees. It appears as an overall deterioration of sections of turf; and irregular or circular brown patches. The turf will look pale green and usually there is a brown border around the infected area.

Brown patch can be discouraged by applying nitrogen in the fall of the year only, mowing a bit shorter than the recommended three inches (try two and a half instead) and irrigating only when needed and in the morning so the grass can dry during the day.

Red thread looks like red thread, really. A reddish-coral color fungus appears in strands and eventually causes the decline of grass blades. This fungal disease is most prevalent during wet, cool weather and in lawns that are deficient in nitrogen. Red thread may have shown up a few weeks ago for some during the cool, wet weather variables.

Frog-eye, or fusarium blight, is so named because in the later stages of the disease the center of the infected area remains viable and the dead grass lies in a two inch wide band around the green center which sort of looks like a big frog eye. We see frog-eye during the hottest and most humid Kentuckiana summers. Too much nitrogen and drought stress help the fungus along, too. Bentgrass, bluegrass and red fescue are most susceptible.

Fungicide use to control these problems is tricky because once the problem is apparent it is essentially too late to control. Applications must be used as a prevention, which is not recommended for the average homeowner. We cannot control the weather but we can control our management habits. Don't fertilize in the spring, irrigate only when necessary, mow when needed and at the proper mowing height (two and a half to three inches) and sod or seed with recommended tall type fescue varieties. And, if you did get a lawn fungus send the kids out to do a science experiment instead!

RELIGIOUS VIEWS

Are you up for the challenge?

For a king of such great power like David, ruling the Kingdom of Israel was an enormous task. He constantly faced ruthless enemies, whom even he could not defeat by himself, but time and time again had to call upon God for the victory.

It makes you wonder what God had in mind when He allowed 8-year-old Josiah to rule over the whole Kingdom. Surely so many people wagged their heads in unbelief toward the child, doubting his ability to rule such a great nation. However, Josiah had something going for him the preceding King did not.

Many kings before Josiah had utterly failed at leading Israel and “did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord”, causing the nation to sink deep into a hole of spiritual darkness. Despite the reputation of the Kings falling into spiritual darkness, Josiah would make a complete turnaround at the very onset of his reign. At the beginning of his reign, Josiah defies the pattern of rebellion. The Bible says, “And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the ways of David his father, and declined neither to the right hand, nor to the left. For in the eighth year of his reign, while he was yet young, he began to seek after the God of David his father...” 2 Chronicles 34:2-3.

Modern day society has made it easy for our young people to rebel against God. Sexual immorality is a click or text message away; our schools have become plagued by drugs and alcohol to the point that even the average high schooler knows how to gain access to them. The youth of today even struggles with generational curses, of the likes of drugs and alcohol. The list could go on and on of how our society driven by Satan himself has been influencing our youth. But within this generation I believe that there is hope! In Joel 2:28 it proclaims that “In the last days sayeth God, I will pour out of my spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy...”

So to say that I believe in this generation is far minute compared to saying that the God of heaven and earth believes that the youth of this generation has the ability to be supernaturally used by Him in this end time hour that we are living in. I also believe that by the help of God this generation has the ability to tear down every stronghold, break every chain of bondage, and defy the pattern of rebellion set by generations before us. So defy the alcoholism, defy the drugs, and defy the sexual immorality.

It will all begin by us lining up by the example of Josiah, and while you are yet young, seek after God and follow after his ways. Begin doing that by going to church, obeying the Word, and being faithful to God. That is how I challenge my generation, and I pray you accept it!

GC Lady Braves feel heat against Bourbon Co.

By Seth Graham
News Intern

Grant County girl’s soccer is showing a young team filled with juniors after losing seven seniors last year. Despite their youth, the team has been playing together since they were elementary age.

Communication seems to be the key with this team.

“We have a strong core of juniors and seniors,” head coach Dave Schmitt said.

They have two seniors leading the way for the team. One of which is Center Defensive Midfielder Bethany Lawrence.

“She is a smart versatile player,” Schmitt said.

Lawrence is excited not only for the future with the younger players on the team.

“This is a big year for me,” Lawrence said.

“I am excited for the years to come for this young team with the potential to be better than last year’s team. I would also like to thank the community for supporting the team because I understand that this is still a growing sport.”

Last year, the Lady Braves went 7-11-1. They were also district runner-ups and lost to South Oldham in the regions.

The Lady Braves are looking to get their revenge on Simon Kenton this year as they feel they were embarrassed last year by them 10-0 in the district championships.

They opened up their season with a 5-0 win against Owen County followed by a 2-1 victory over Gallatin County.

A heat index close to 100 degrees, saw the Lady Braves fall to the Bourbon County Lady Colonels on a steamy night on Aug. 25 by a score of 5-0.

They faced Carroll County on Aug. 27 at 6 p.m. in Carrollton.

The team played seven games over a five-day period, going 3-0 in pool play to place first in the pool and move on to bracket play.

There they defeated a team from Massachusetts and a team from Dayton, Ohio to advance to the Elite 8.

Williamstown girl’s golf compete individually

The Williamstown Girls golf team has two players that are playing individually for they do not have enough to compete as a team.

Junior Hannah Scroggins and senior Sarah Hicks compose the Lady Demons team and both have fared well in two tournaments and four matches.

“So far so good,” head coach Jarrod Sharpe said.

By seasons end though Sharpe would like to see one if not both qualify for state and the All “A” state tournaments.

“I would like to see them consistently shooting in the 70’s,” Sharpe said. “We also need to improve our short game.”

Both girls are playing for the love of the game; are trying to have fun; and improving every day.

“Practice makes perfect, and I need a lot of that,” Hicks said.

“We are trying to have fun out there too.”

Williamstown boy’s golf improving

The Williamstown Boy’s golf team has simple goals of improving their game this year. They are a young team with no set goals.

“There are no real expectations,” head coach Sean Binder said.

The team only has five players and is composed of eighth to tenth graders and all are trying to improve in all aspects of their games.

“I like to see the players to shave off five to eight strokes when all is said and done,” Binder said. “We are a young and developing team and it takes time.”

Lady Demons beat Gallatin, Carroll counties

By Seth Graham
KPA Intern

In between drills during a pre-season practice Williamstown Volleyball coach, Wesley Staff, called out to his team “What two goals are we setting out to accomplish this year?” The team yelled back “talking and being faster!”

Communication and fundamentals are the two key aspects and building blocks that Staff has set his focus on this season.

In the Lady Demons first two outings, practice paid off as they beat the Gallatin County Lady Wildcats on the road with a 3-0 win on Aug. 7 and followed that victory up with a 3-2 win over the Carroll County Lady Panthers on Aug. 21.

“We got to get more vocal and get more chatter out on the court,” Staff said. “I feel we have the fundamentals down, we just have to be faster with our footwork. If we can get those two goals met before conference and districts, we are going to be tough to beat.”

The team has a total of 11 players and returns four seniors.

Junior, Rachel Montgomery, took a year off last year from volleyball to concentrate more on basketball but is back and is a natural, Staff said.

She will be in a new role as a setter and can be dangerous as a hitter in the front row.

“If she puts the time and effort into spending time in the gym with a volleyball she could be a real difference maker,” Staff said.

Their first scrimmage at Owen County proved to be a learning experience for the team.

“The team got a feel for the offense and ball movement,” Staff said.

The Lady Demons feel that they will definitely improve on last year’s season as they went 5-22 according to rihdrds.com. They fell to Simon Kenton in districts 0-3 (25-17, 25-5, 25-10).

Before they’ll get a chance to face the Lady Pioneers for the first time this season, they’ll have to get past Covington Latin and Eminence.

The Lady Demons won/lost? against Covington Latin on Aug. 25 and then traveled to Eminence on Aug. 26. Results from that game were not available at press time.

The Lady Demons will meet the Lady Pioneers at 7 p.m. on Aug. 28 in Williamstown.

Grant Lady Braves win Glacier Invitational

By Bryan Harmeyer
Sports Coorespondent

Grant County girls volley ball is a team composed of no seniors. Despite the lack of seniors, the team has been playing together for a while and has good chemistry.

First-year head coach Kelli Hollenkamp believes she may have walked into a good situation.

“I am not only excited for this year,” Hollenkamp said. “But I am really looking forward to next year with a young team like this,”

Junior Emily Livingood will be playing a big role as a setter for the Lady Braves.

“I am excited for what is possible” Livingood said.

The Lady Braves feel that Simon Kenton is the big competition this year and that they want to get to regionals.

Last year, the Lady Braves went 14-19 in the regular season and lost to Simon Kenton in the Districts.

After two straight losses to Dixie Heights and Shelby County, the Lady Braves bounced back with a victory against Carroll County on Aug. 20.

The Lady Braves were paced by Meagan Kinard with seven kills and one block.

Maddie Morgan, Sarah Hall and Emily Livingood each had two kills.

Brenna Nolte and Sabryn Wooten also came up with big digs in the game.

Kinard, Jonalyn Ada, Livingood, Nolte, Wooten and Hall also had aces.

The Lady Braves followed that win up by winning the Bracken County Glacier Invitational on Aug. 23.

In the first match, the Lady Braves beat Harrison County 2-0, followed by 2-0 victories over Augusta and Lewis County.

In a re-match with Lewis County, the Lady Braves fell 1-2 but rebounded with a 2-0 over victory over host Bracken County.

They move on to play against the Conner Lady Cougars at Conner on Aug. 26, They’ll be back at home facing the Owen County Lady Rebels at 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 27 and the Walton-Verona Lady Bearcats on Aug. 28.

The Lady Braves will host their cross-county rivals, the Williamstown Lady Demons at 7 p.m. on Sept. 3.

GC Braves beat Pendleton Co. 7-1

By Seth Graham
News Intern

The Grant County boys soccer team is looking to have a big year this year, only losing one player from last year.

The team will be able to field a team of 11 seniors.

They got a good win over Carroll County, beating them 3-0 in soccerama this pre-season.

Though they can't wait to play and be competitive with the likes of Simon Kenton and Walton Verona, they feel that they stand a good chance of winning districts.

"I feel that winning districts is an obtainable goal," head coach Garret Griffith said.

This pre-season they were focused on ball control and finishing.

"We want to control the pace," Griffith said. "We want teams to play the way we play."

Grant County will have some key players lining the spine of their team starting back in goal with senior Jordan Kearns, senior Joel Hornsby at center defensive midfield, and senior Brett Marinacci striking.

Last year, the Braves went 10-8-1 and lost to Simon Kenton 4-0 in the districts.

So far this season, the Braves have lost to Cooper, but rebounded to beat Pendleton County at home on Aug. 21 by a score of 7-1.

They faced Covington Latin on Aug. 26 and Paris on Aug. 27 on the road. Scores were not available at press time.

OPENING GAME CALLED DUE TO WEATHER

By Seth Graham
News Intern

Head Coach Kevin Siple is going into his third season as coach of the Grant County Braves Football team and is feeling optimistic with the off season he and his team has had.

“We have had great off seasons the past two years and are getting stronger,” Siple said.

The football team is coming off of a disappointing 1-9 2013 season. This year seems to be a different story as they are a team of 21 juniors and 12 seniors that have experience playing as underclassmen.

“This year we will be more competitive,” Siple said. “I think that we will surprise some teams.”

The team plans on switching up its offense to a more of a power, ground and pound offense with juniors Triston Wallace and Hunter Lawson, who had 550 yards and five touchdowns as a sophomore, leading the way in the backfield.

“We have a lot of big kids this year so we are switching up the offense to fit our personnel,” Siple said.

Under center, at quarterback will be senior Michael Mclean. At tight end will feature Austin Schneider, an athlete with real D1 potential, Siple said.

Grant County opened its season at home against Middlesboro on Aug. 23, but the game was called when it was tied 7-7 due to lightning.

The Braves lost to Middlesboro 20-48 last year, but it was a different team on the field.

“We were pleased because it was critical for us to get off to a good start,” Siple said. “Our kids played hard against a good Middlesboro team. We felt like we had momentum when the game was stopped.”

Siple said he believes his team would have been victorious if the game had not been stopped.

The off season will be the difference for the Braves this year and Siple likes what the players have shown him so far.

“This is a group of hard-nosed, tough football players. They are very close as a team and really care about each other,” he said.

The Braves will take on rivals the Owen County Rebels on Aug. 29 at home.

“Owen County is a big game for both schools and both communities,” Siple said. “You can always throw out the records and you better be prepared for a war.”

Siple said this week he will concentrate of making the Braves forget last week’s game to focus on facing a tough Owen County team.

We will work hard on stopping the things that they do well,” he said. “The biggest part for us will be to make sure we are mentally ready for them and play this week with no distractions.”

Hunter Lawson sprints down the field with the ball trying to escape Middlesboro defenders.

Luker Walters plays defense against a Middlesboro player. The Braves will play Owen County at home on Aug. 29.

Grant golfers sweep first two matches of season

By Seth Graham
News Intern

Grant County Girls Golf looks to continue their strong start this year when they won their first match of the year at the Madison Southern Invitational and followed that up by winning the Central Kentucky Conference at Mt. Sterling Country Club and grabbing second place at the Grant County Invitational at Eagle Creek.

Senior Macy Wright and Junior Sarah Boden are leading the team at the one and two positions on the team. Wright and Boden actually had to go into a playoff to determine the individual winner of the Central Kentucky Conference. Boden was able to edge out Wright in the finish. Boden also finished second at the Madison Southern Invitational and finished third out of 124 golfers at the Villa Madonna Invitational.

“Sarah has been solid as a rock,” head coach Marcus Camacho said. “She has worked hard over the summer and has got her game to a new level.”

The team is returning two seniors in Brittany Hudson and Katy Michaels as well. The team is looking to improve its short game.

“There are always things you can improve on,” Camacho said. “I think that we need to get better with our chipping and putting.”

With this hot start, the Lady Braves set their sights on beating out Notre Dame and winning the region.

“As long as we reach our goal of shooting 320, as a team, we have a good chance of beating Notre Dame and winning the region,” said Boden.

The Lady Braves are set to take on this regional challenge on Sept. 29 at Twin Oaks Golf Course.

Grant boys golf wants state shot

By Seth Graham
News Intern

Fresh off a win in the Beechwood Invitational Grant County’s boys golf team is off running and feel that they stand a good chance of making it to state.

Grant proves to be strong at the top two positions with senior Cody Kellam and sophomore Jacob Vrolijk.

“I feel that my top two golfers can compete with anyone in the state,” head coach Michael Camacho said. “I feel that Cody and Jacob can make the All-State Team.” Kellam, who got first individually in the Beechwood Invitational, feels that the team is making great strides in the right direction early on in the season and feels that the team will qualify for state.

“I think that it (Beechwood Invitational) was a big team step as a team in becoming stronger,” Kellam said. “With the regional being at Eagle Creek, I think that we will qualify for state as a team.”

As a team Grant County is trying to improve and get consistency out of the three and four spots to really be dangerous as a team.

“When our three and four men are on, we are a tough team to beat,” Camacho said.

Regionals are to be held at Eagle Creek, Grant County’s home course.

“I feel that my top two golfers can compete with anyone in the state.”

Williamstown cross country team is on the move

By Seth Graham
News Intern

The Williamstown cross country team is in familiar territory having a young team with 23 middle school athletes and only four high school students in juniors Jeff Jackson, Carly Middleton, Avery March, and freshman Megan Perkins.

“We are a young team with great kids,” head coach Mark Kinsey said. “A lot of kids are showing a lot of initiative and discipline.”

The team will be headed by eighth grader Bradley Perkins.

Within their respective age groups, all of the kids are looking solid, but the team is still looking for runners.

“Last year was the same,” Kinsey said. “It was a slow start.”

The older students have really stepped up on the team providing positive examples for the younger students.

“I thought that it would be a challenge having the older kids meshing with the younger kids,” Kinsey said. “But they all accepted each other immediately.”

“We are like one big family,” Jackson said.

The team’s ultimate goal, along with improving their personal records each week, is to strive to be good people and teammates.

“We are a young and growing team,” Kinsey said.

The Demons will look to run all their runners at the Grant County Invitational on Sept. 6. The Williamstown Invitational will be held on Oct. 4 and will host more than 500 runners.

Legal Notices

NOTICE

Please take notice that Duke Energy Kentucky, Inc. has applied to the Kentucky Public Service Commission for approval to revise its Demand Side Management (DSM) rate for electric service and gas service for residential and commercial customers and add new products for its DSM program available to customers. Duke Energy Kentucky's current monthly DSM rate for residential gas customers is $0.054918 per hundred cubic feet (ccf) and for non-residential gas customers is $0.000000 per hundred cubic feet. Duke Energy Kentucky's current monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers is $0.003062 per kilowatt-hour (kWh) and for nonresidential customers is $0.001128 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and $0.000848 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service.

Duke Energy Kentucky seeks approval to revise these rates as follows: Duke Energy Kentucky's monthly DSM rate for residential gas customers would increase to $0.055020 per hundred cubic feet and for non-residential gas customers would remain at $0.000000 per hundred cubic feet. Duke Energy Kentucky's monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers would increase to $0.003094 per kilowatt-hour and for non-residential customers would increase to $0.001249 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and would remain at $0.000848 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service.

The rate contained in this notice is the rate proposed by Duke Energy Kentucky. However, the Public Service Commission may order a rate to be charged that differs from this proposed rate. Such action may result in a rate for consumers other than the rate in this notice. The foregoing rates reflect a proposed increase in electric revenues of approximately $329 thousand or 0.10% over current total electric revenues and an increase of $6 thousand or 0.01% over current gas revenues.

A typical residential gas customer using 70 ccf in a month will see an increase of $0.01 or 0.01%. A typical residential electric customer using 1000 kWh in a month will see an increase of $0.03 or 0.03%. A typical non-residential electric customer using 40 kilowatts and 14,000 kWh will see an increase of $0.69 or 0.13%. Non-residential gas customers and non-residential electric customers served at transmission voltage will see no change in their bills from this application.

Any corporation, association, body politic or person may by motion within thirty (30) days after publication or mailing of notice of the proposed rate changes, submit a written request to intervene to the Public Service Commission, 211 Sower Boulevard, P.O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, and shall set forth the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. The intervention may be granted beyond the thirty (30) day period for good cause shown. Written comments regarding the proposed rate may be submitted to the Public Service Commission by mail or through the Public Service Commission's website. A copy of this application filed with the Public Service Commission is available for public inspection at Duke Energy Kentucky's office at 4580 Olympic Boulevard, Erlanger, Kentucky 41018 and on its website at http://www.duke-energy.com. This filing and any other related documents can be found on the Public Service Commission's website at http://psc.ky.gov.

With a background in social work, Eimer as served as a child and family therapist and director of a foster care program. Since 2008, he worked at the United Way of Greater Cincinnati, which led him to get to know Grant County.

"I had the privilege of working with my predecessor, Betsy John Jennings, during my time with United Way," Eimer said. "Betsy was a valuable member of the Grant County Leadership Committee, a United Way-led committee. I was fortunate to have had the chance to work fairly extensively in Grant County for the past four to five years while at United Way. During that time, I learned that Grant County is a welcoming community with a lot to offer, made up of hard-working and genuine people."

Having accessible postsecondary education opportunities, such as NKU's Grant County Center in Williamstown and the Grant County Career Advancement Center in Dry Ridge puts Grant County in a great position to prepare its workforce for employer demands, said Eimer.

"Grant County's citizens, by all accounts, are hard-working and reliable, which is terrific – but it's simply not enough," he said. "Employers are looking for workers with appropriate educational credentials as well. At NKU, we see Gateway Community and Technical College as a partner, not a competitor. The Grant County Career Advancement Center is an outstanding resource for individuals who are in need of a G.E.D. from Gateway/Grant Count Adult Education or those who just want assistance with finding gainful employment. Further up the continuum is where NKU's Grant County Center comes in. We want to serve individuals who are looking to take that next step toward a college degree."

For more information about the NKU-Grant County Center, call 859-824-3600 or stop by 309 North Main St., Williamstown.

Cloe's love of Ag leads to state FFA degree

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

For 18-year-old Morgan Cloe, her cows are more than just farm animals.

"They are really my pets," she said. "They each have a name and different personality so I absolutely love being able to go to the farm to work with each and every one of them."

Cloe took out a loan to start her herd.

What started out has four has now grown to 15 red Angus cattle.

Cloe also has an Appaloosa horse and a wired haired spaniel.

"My dad was raised on the farm that we live on now and they milked Guernsey dairy cattle until my grandpa passed away in 2004," she said. "Since then, we have had sheep, goats, horses and beef cattle. I fell in love with the animals as soon as I started going to help my dad at a very young age."

The 2014 Williamstown High School graduate's hard work and dedication to agriculture recently paid off as she became the first WHS student to receive the state FFA degree.

The degree is awarded to the top members of the state FFA Association.

Cloe had to complete 25 hours of community service, earn or invest $1,000 through her supervised agricultural experience, demonstrate leadership ability and have a satisfactory academic record.

"I felt a huge accomplishment getting it because I was the first student from Williamstown to ever receive it," she said.

Cloe credits her dad, Randy Cloe, for her love for agriculture.

Cloe was in 4-H for six years and in Future Farmers of America (FFA) for three years.

Both organizations teach responsibility and leadership at a young age, said Cloe.

"I have seen so many students grow through both associations," she said. "You will not find a person that works harder than 4-H and FFA members do. I have attended many FFA events and functions and have made friends from not only the state of Kentucky but all over the United States. The FFA is such a great association for students to get involved in because it not only shows them what agriculture is about, but it can develop them into great leaders that they would have never known they could become."

Cloe is attending Morehead State University and majoring in Agriculture Education.

While she will miss her FFA family, especially the underclassmen she grew close to during the past several years, Cloe said she will stay involved.

She will pay her dues in order to show her animals next summer at the Grant County Fair, where this year she received Grant County Supreme 4-H/FFA Dairy Cow at the dairy show and Grant County 4-H/FFA Beef Cow at the beef show.

Cloe also plans to get involved in Morehead State's collegiate FFA chapter.

Her goal is to be an agriculture teacher and FFA advisor because of the impact her former WHS FFA advisor, Mackenzie Wright, had on her.

"She made me realize that I want to make an impact on other kids just like she did with me," Cloe said.

CLINIC : free cat spay/neuter program offered

Once a month the animals will be transported to a UCAN facility in Cincinnati where veterinarians will perform the surgeries.

Feral cats can also be altered. "There is no excuse for anyone not to have their cats altered when we are offering such a deal," Chaney said. "There are not enough homes for all the cats that are born and if everyone does their part, together we can eliminate the problem."

For more information about the program, call the Grant County Animal Shelter at 859-824-9403.

Forcht Bank is proud to be #1 in Grant County, but there is only one reason that it's possible:

Our employees.

I want to say "thank you" to all our hard working, dedicated staff for their amazing commitment to outstanding customer service. It's no secret our customers love us, and we couldn't do it without you.

Thank You!
